Call for Papers: 2nd Annual UBC Asian Studies Graduate Student Conference - deadline to submit: December 31, 2012

2nd Annual UBC Asian Studies Graduate Student Conference
Saturday, March 9, 2013
UBC Asian Centre

We invite submissions for the UBC Asian Studies Graduate Student Conference, which will be held at the UBC Asian Centre on Saturday, March 9, 2013. As one of the largest and most recognized Asian Studies departments in Canada, we hope to foster multi-regional and interdisciplinary discussion while providing students with an opportunity to present their research and exchange ideas with their peers and UBC faculty members.

We seek papers from graduate students engaged in Asian area studies in all levels and disciplines that engage "Asia" without necessarily being tethered to any one geographical, temporal or cultural framework. We encourage a variety of methodologies and approaches including (but not limited to) history, art, literature, linguistics, religion, political science, and gender studies.

We invite all those interested in presenting papers to submit an abstract (250 words maximum) along with brief biographical information (150 words max) by December 31, 2012. Successful applicants will be notified by January 15th.

Participants will be asked to limit their presentations to a maximum of 20 minutes, so as to leave ample time for discussion. Presentation papers should be about 1500-2000 words long, and must be submitted by February 1st for review by discussants. Audio/visual equipment will be provided.

Please e-mail submissions and queries to the conference committee at: ubcasiagrad@gmail.com.

Call for Papers: 2013 Cornell Southeast Asia Program Graduate Student Conference - deadline to submit: January 10, 2013

The Cornell Southeast Asia Program invites submissions for its 15th Annual Southeast Asian Studies Graduate Student Conference. The conference will be held March 1-3, 2013 at the Kahin Center for Advanced Research on Southeast Asia at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York. Professor Lindy Williams from the Department of Development Sociology at Cornell will deliver our keynote address.

We welcome submissions of abstracts from graduate students who have completed original research related to Southeast Asia. There is no specific theme for this conference, as we hope to attract a wide range of submissions. Our intention is to reflect the dynamic research currently undertaken by graduate students. The Cornell Southeast Asia Program's Graduate Committee will review the abstracts, select presenters, and organize panels by theme. In order to aid this process of thematic organization, we ask that you please include a few keywords summarizing your presentation along with your abstract.

Selected contributors will present their work as part of a panel, and paper abstracts will be included in the conference program. All the panels will have discussants, so presenters should be prepared to submit full papers of 5000-8000 words by February 15. All accepted papers will be rigorously reviewed for potential submission to SOJOURN: Journal of Social Issues in Southeast Asia. If selected, we will work with you to further prepare the paper for submission.

(VIII) Opportunities for Teachers (in order of deadline to apply)

 Phila-Nipponica Project 2013 - Now Accepting Applications - *deadline to apply: February 1, 2013

RECOVERING JAPAN

PREPARING PHILADELPHIA AREA EDUCATORS TO TEACH ABOUT JAPAN AS IT RESPONDS TO THE DISASTER OF 2011

Phila-Nipponica is intended to educate “beginners” about Japan, offering a broad base of history and culture in preparation for a study-tour of Japan, with a focus on: Recovering Japan: Preparing Philadelphia Area Educators to Teach about Japan as It Responds to the Disasters of 2011.

The University of Pennsylvania Center for East Asian Studies is pleased to announce that it will offer the Phila-Nipponica Project, the 13th year in a series that has helped nearly two hundred Philadelphia-area educators enhance their classroom teaching about Japan through seminars, a summer study-tour, and curriculum development workshops.

United States-Japan Foundation: Elgin Heinz Outstanding Teacher Award for 2013 - deadline to apply: February 1, 2013

Recognizing Teachers Who Further Mutual Understanding Between Americans and Japanese

The Elgin Heinz Outstanding Teacher Award was approved by the Foundation's Board of Trustees in September 2001 and recognizes exceptional teachers who further mutual understanding between Americans and Japanese. The award is presented annually to two pre-college teachers in two categories, humanities and Japanese language, and consists of a certificate of recognition, a $2,500 monetary award, and $5,000 in project funds. It is named in honor of Elgin Heinz for his commitment to educating students about Asia as well as for the inspiration he has provided to the field of pre-college education.

Eligibility Requirements

The award is open to current full-time K-12 classroom teachers of any relevant subject in the United States. There are two award categories, one in the humanities and one in Japanese language.

Previous award recipients often have over 10 years of teaching experience and have been engaged in teaching their students about Japan for a substantial period of time. Candidates must demonstrate sustained commitment to improving mutual understanding between Americans and Japanese, and must have made a significant contribution to enhancing students' knowledge of Japan.

Applicants for the Japanese language category must have excellent command of the Japanese language and may be contacted by members of the selection committee to verify this.

Deadline for 2013 - Complete applications must be received by the Foundation on or prior to February 1, 2013 to be considered for the 2013 award.

Review and Selection

A national selection committee will review complete applications received by or on February 1, 2013.

The selection committee consists of leaders in the field of education about Japan. The award winners will be announced in May.
